

CAMPUS MONUMENT SIGNAGE GETS REVAMPED

The new monument signage around campus implements the new university lockup which combines the iconic Bull-U icon with the university wordmark.

As USF Tampa, St. Pete, and Sarasota-Manatee came together as One USF through the consolidation process, it became important to create a unifying image across the campuses. Unification of signage helps create a more pleasing and cohesive look for people coming onto campus.

The signage project took four weeks for planning and pricing and an additional four weeks for construction. In addition to the monument signs, the large USF logo on the north side of the Student Services (SVC) building was also updated. This location is significant as it is a very popular location for photos.

Chaddy Hanwisai, Campus Planning Project Manager, says the most challenging part of the project was scheduling sign removal, monument repair, and sign installation so no monuments were missing for long durations. The project came in on time and under budget even with the additional sign at SVC.

USF NAMED AMERICA'S FASTEST RISING UNIVERSITY

The USF community is made up of incredibly talented and hardworking students, faculty, and staff, who all contribute to USF's unmatched momentum as a global research university dedicated to student success, faculty excellence and creative impact.

Due to the dedication of the USF community, the U.S. News and World Report has once again named USF the fastest rising university in America. Over the past 10 years, USF has risen 78 spots among all universities and 54 spots among public universities, more than any other university in the country. This is the second consecutive year the US News and World Report has ranked USF is among the top 50 public universities in the nation.

USF "takes great pride in the fact that we continue to make higher education more
