The Hope Challenge

Many people in trouble with the law have no hope that their lives will get better, so they give up before they get started.

People with multiple issues and multiple challenges most need HOPE in order to be inspired to do the work to succeed.

The Complexity Challenge

- Individuals with complex multiple issues

If so, how do you get there?

How do we get there clinically?

As a system or organization, how do we get there?

Vision-Driven Quality Improvement Challenge

- How well are your criminal justice services and programs organized to empower staff as partners in vision-driven quality improvement?
- How well are you organized to build inspiration:

Principles Made Simple

Principle #1

Complexity is an expectation.

- Welcome people with complexity as priority customers.
  - This is not just about "being nice"; this is welcoming the opportunity to work with people exactly as they are.
- Remove access barriers that interfere.
- Welcome the chance to see ALL the complex issues: integrated screening and documentation.

Principle #2

Service partnerships are empathic, hopeful, integrated, and strength-based.

- Hopeful goals for a meaningful, productive life.
- Work with all the issues step by step over time to achieve success.
- Identify and build on strengths used during periods of success.

Principle #4

All co-occurring conditions, including criminal justice issues, are primary.

Integrated multiple primary condition-specific best practice interventions are needed.

Always consider criminogenic thinking as well as each behavioral health issue as a "primary" condition to address

Principle #5
Parallel process of recovery

Stage-Matching in Criminal Justice Settings

- For many people, the “most active” stage of change will be their interest in not being incarcerated.
- Integrated stage-matching for multiple conditions means that you engage the person to make progress toward his/her hopeful goals, utilizing addressing the issues with “more active” stages of change to leverage progress in addressing related issues in “earlier” stages of change.

Stages of Change

- Preparation:I’m ready to start changing but I haven’t started, and I need some help to know

Principle #6

Adequately supported, adequately rewarded, skill-based learning for each condition.

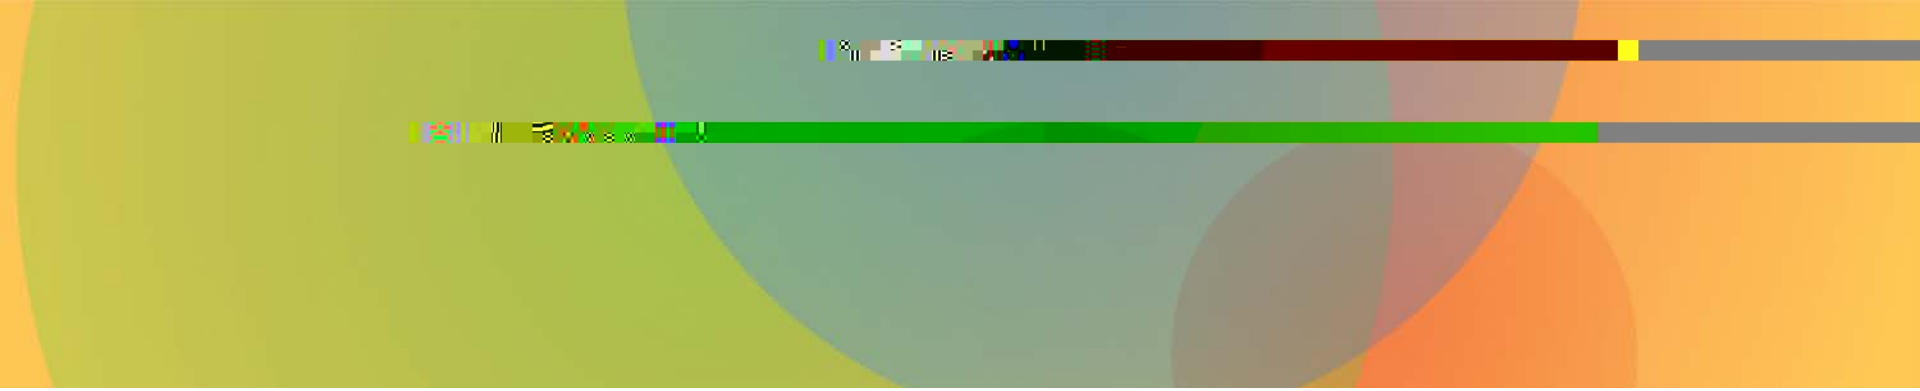
Reminder:
There is no one correct intervention or program.

In CCISC, every program, policy, practice, etc., is organized to match interventions based on the principles.

In CJ services, matching is also based on nature of the offense, and MH-SA- other issues that contribute to criminogenic risk.



For Systems, Agencies and Programs

12 Steps of Recovery: Step 1

- Welcome all staff into an empowered partnership.
- Define a vision for all programs and all staff.
- Define the vision as related to core values:
  - Welcoming, hope and recovery
  - Matching services to the needs and dreams of the people and families with complexity.

For Systems, Agencies and Programs

12 Steps of Recovery: Steps 2, 3, 4

- Step 2:Define your CQI “Recovery Team” for the agency.

For Systems, Agencies and Programs

12 Steps of Recovery: Step 5 Tools

- COMPASS E-Z™ for behavioral health programs
- COMPASS P-H™ for primary health programs
- COMPASS I-D™ for intellectual disability services
- COMPASS Prevention™ for prevention and early intervention programs

For Systems, Agencies and Programs

12 Steps of Recovery: Steps 7, 8, 9

- Step 7:Welcoming individuals and families with complex needs.
- Step 8:Seeing the complexity in the people we serve: integrated screening and counting.
- Step 9:Establishing hopeful goals for a happy life. Identify periods of strength and success.

For Systems, Agencies and Programs

12 Steps of Recovery: Steps 10, 11, 12

- Step 10: Integrated recovery-oriented strength-based assessment for multiple primary issues.
- Step 11: Stage-matched interventions:

What will be your next small step of success as a system, agency or program?

And let’s give each other a round of applause!!!
