

CANVAS COMMONS

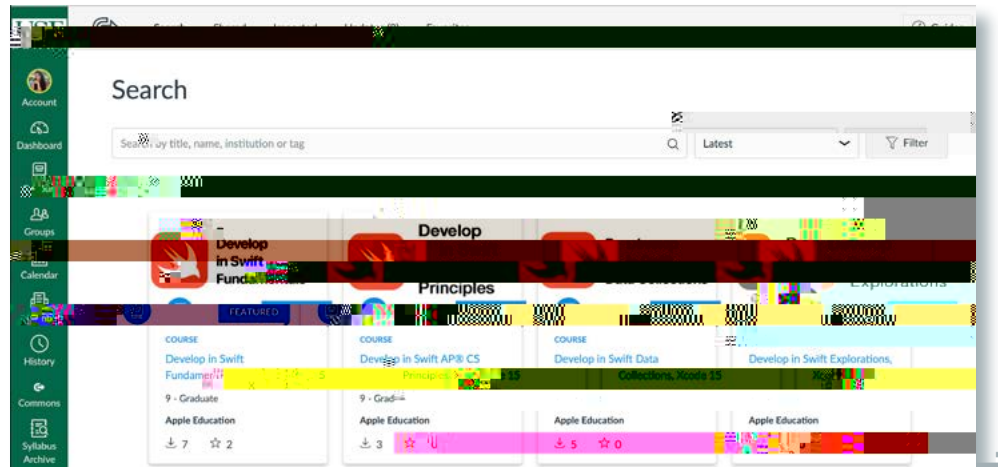

▶ Finding Content

Canvas Commons is a repository of shared Canvas resources from schools and universities in Florida that use Canvas. In this section, we'll discover how to get into Commons and find useful resources.

Select the Canvas Commons page.

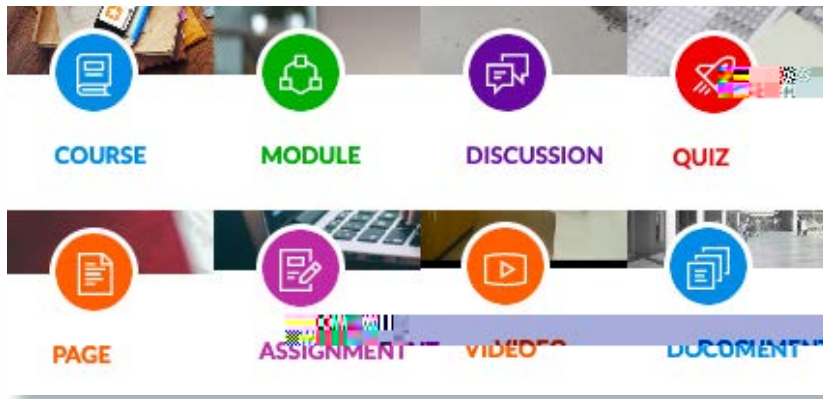

Click the Commons Link in the Canvas Navigation Panel. This opens the Commons page.

Use the search field to find your resource. USF has over 11,000 resources available across all campuses uploaded by various departments and your colleagues. To find USF approved Resources can be a variety of types. Resources can be a complete course, a module, a page, a quiz, etc. They will be identified as such with a labeled icon.

It is possible to filter resources by these types and others. Click the  button. This will open up the filter panel. Make your choices.

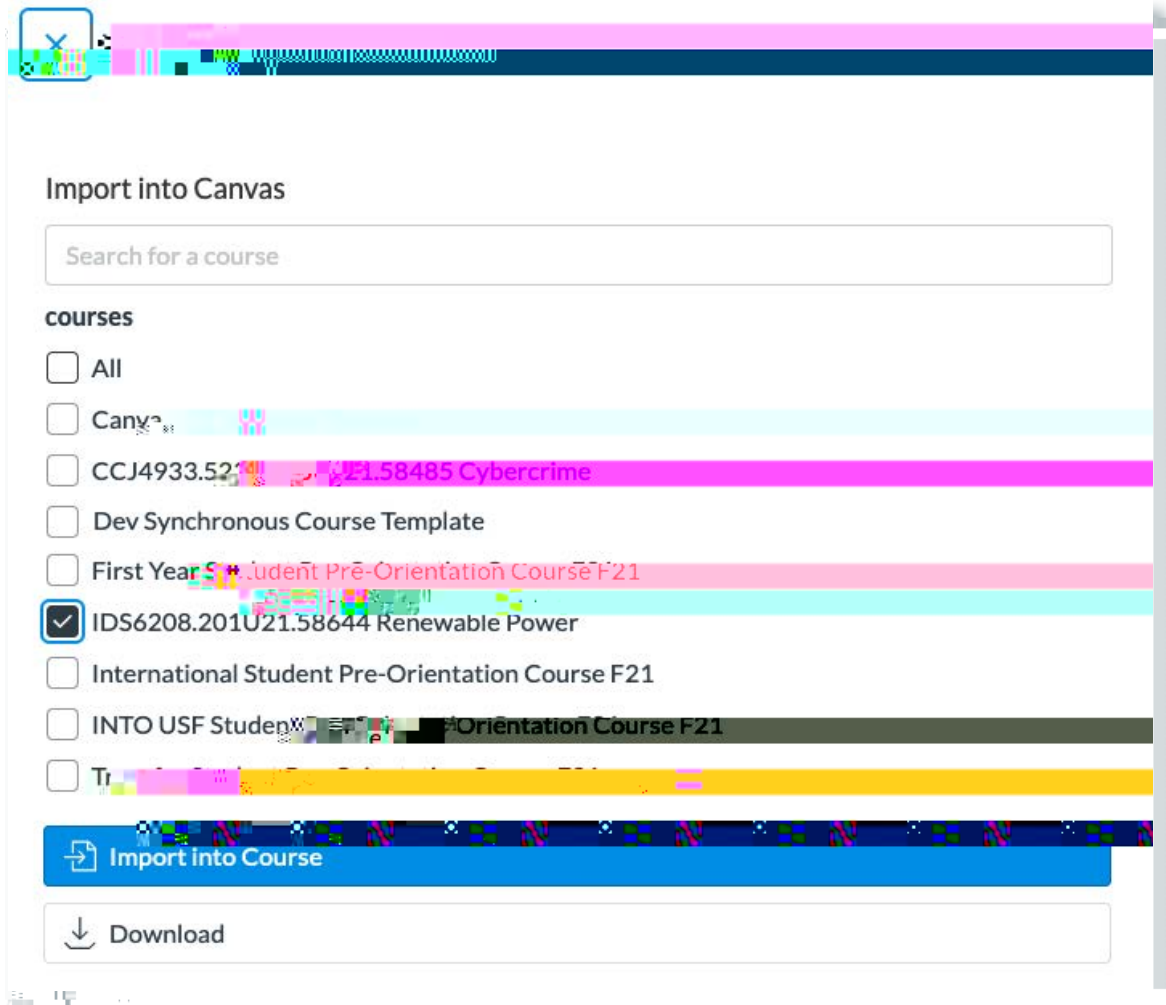

Importing Content

Once you've found a resource you would like to use, you can import it directly from Commons into your course.

Choose the dropdown list will appear showing all of your courses. Search and choose the one you want, then select the button. The import will begin. Close out of Commons and go to your course.

but on. After clicking the blue Import/Download button, a dropdown list will appear showing all of your courses. Search and choose the one you want, then select the button. The import will begin. Close out of Commons and go to your course.

To repeat, if you choose a course, the navigation settings of the imported course will override the navigation settings you may have originally made in your course. This does not apply to other types of imports.
