

BIOHAZARD

Agent: Anaplasma phagocytophilum

Laboratory Hazard: Bacterium may be present in animal tissue excretions, and secretions. Since the experimental mode of administration is intraperitoneal injection, the greatest potential hazard is the potential of needle-stick during the administration of the agent to animals,